

Summary

Congratulations!!!!

You have completed the Have Fun Online Orientation training program. You are now ready to complete the required workplace safety training program. Our goal in the online orientation program was to help you gain comfort using online training and the various tools that you will continue to use for all your workplace safety courses.

Next Steps:

Log into EctoLearning and locate the group called Have Fun Workplace Safety Training. This course is setup very similar to the online orientation program you just participated.

So take all your learning from the online orientation program and begin your Have Fun Workplace Safety Training program.
